the Vegetable Project

Supporting garden-based teaching and learning

Sponsor a garden bed

The Vegetable Project, which digs in the dirt at Albany High School and Stephen and Harriet Middle School and partners with the Friendship Garden of the Delaware Community, would be pleased to showcase the names of friends who help make its research-based work with Albany students possible. We will fasten a handsome sign, 4 inches by 12 inches, on the side of a raised garden bed at one garden in exchange for a contribution of $150 and will maintain the installation until March 1, 2028. Or please consider sponsoring beds at two gardens for $275 or at all three for $375. Funding brings doing and touching and tasting and experiencing into Albany classrooms, supports development of outdoor teaching and learning and creates employment opportunities for high school students.

Our mission

The mission of the Vegetable Project is to create hands-on learning opportunities for children in Albany, and especially children with great needs, by building gardens, growing plants and harnessing the power of exposure to nature.
